

WEEK TWO

Parents,

Teenagers are spending vast amounts of time at home with their cell phones and gaming systems. To support your increased role as a tech gatekeeper, here are two resources.

The first is a Contract Pack that serves as communication tools to set teenagers and parents up for success. It also includes a Parent's Guide to explain the trust economy.

The contracts come with text and blank templates in case you want to personalize the contract. Topics include cell phones, video games, technology, and being home alone.

The second resource inspires parents to think about activities they can do with their teenagers. How to Prepare Your Teenager for Life is a brief video to help parents think through life skills. Manage money? Sew a button? Change a tire?

Click the links below to download your parent resources.
