May 5, 12, 19 & June 2, 9, 16

Sacred Parenting (& Grand-parenting)

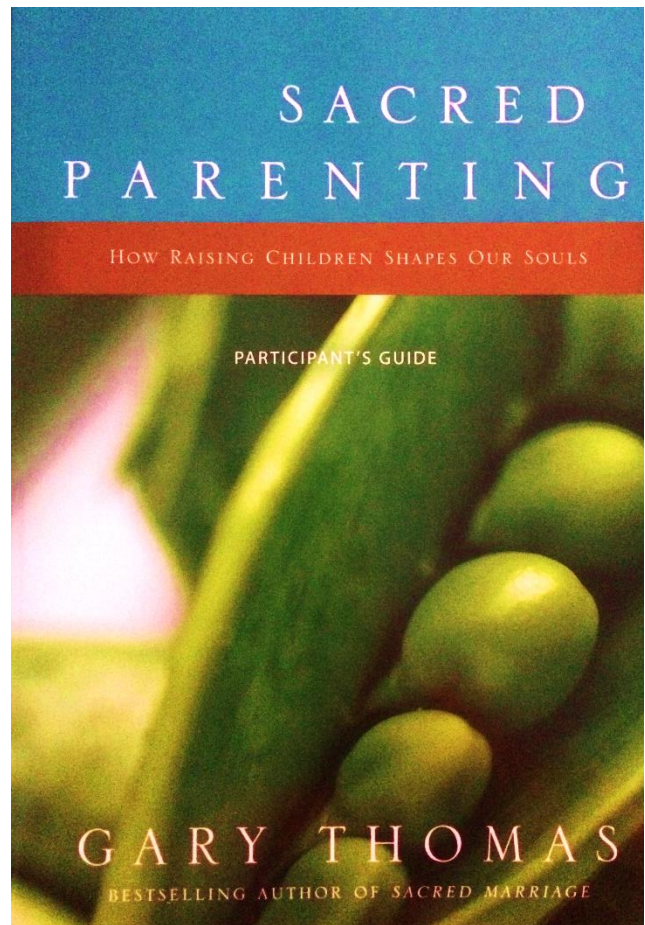

How Raising Children Shapes Our Souls

Learn how God can transform dirty diapers, toddler tantrums, and teenager trouble into occasions for becoming more like Christ. Best-selling author Gary Thomas helps us look at parenting and grandparenting from a soul-shaping perspective.

Facilitators: Kurt Helmcke & Nathan Wagner

Class Session Outline

9:00 – 9:10	Greeting & Introduction
9:10 – 9:30	DVD Presentation
9:30 – 9:50	Group Discussion

Schedule

Date	Title	Description
May 5 Kurt	Parenting: God's Hammer on Our Souls	God can use the difficulties, challenges, struggles, and joys of parenting to help us become more like Christ.
May 12 Kurt	It's All About Him: God-Centered Parenting	The "earthy" process of changing diapers, educating toddlers, and raising teens is actually a sacred enterprise and a continual act of worship.
May 19 Nathan	The Hardest Hurt of All	We must become spiritually strong enough to watch our children hurt, so that they can develop and mature into faithful followers of Christ.
May 26	No Class due to Memorial Day Weekend
June 2 Kurt	Embracing Our Insignificance	Honestly embracing our historical insignificance will free us up to focus on relationships and eternal significance.
June 9 Nathan	The Gold Behind the Guilt	God uses even our inadequacies for his glory and purpose.
June 16 Kurt	The Sweet Side of Sacrifice	Raising children trains us for a fundamental Christian attitude: living in the spirit of sacrifice.
