Sometimes it's just fun.

I love what I do. I get to play music for a living. I mean I hope it's obvious there's WAY more to it than just that. Most of you have heard me say I'm pastor first and a musician/worship leader/administrator/whatever else second. But yeah, I get to play music with people I like. A lot.

Sometimes, though, there's an added bonus. This past Sunday, Lincoln Avenue Worship played an outdoor concert as one of the openers for the headliner, Josh Wilson. It was hot. We only played three songs, but we played HARD.

And we had fun.

It was nice, for me, to take off the organizer/planner hat and just play. It was great seeing so many of you out in the crowd. It was fun hangin' out with some of our team in a different place and environment. It was just FUN!

God gives us those little moments, sometimes. Little graces. Small gifts. Things to remind us to relax and just enjoy life. For those moments, I'm grateful.

The next one for us, LABC, is Fall on the Farm. See you there. Until then, eyes up!

After Him,
david
