Serving & Supporting Your Family

Savoring Summer with Purpose

As summer begins to wind down, we're reminded what a gift this season can be — long days, lingering evenings, and time to be together as a family. These slower moments are perfect for making memories with your kids: backyard games, late-night ice cream runs, and unhurried conversations.

Before the school-year busyness returns, take time to rest, reconnect, and refocus. Enjoy the freedom of these days while also anchoring your family in Christ. Read a favorite Bible story together, take walks and talk about God's creation, or end the day with a prayer of thanks.

Jesus reminds us in Matthew 6:33 to "seek first His kingdom and His righteousness." Even in the most relaxed moments, we can help our kids see that our faith is not just for Sundays — it's a daily, living relationship. So enjoy the fun, soak in the slower pace, and keep Christ at the center of it all.
