
Robert Weltman PhD

Biography

Dr. Robert Weltman, a clinical psychologist, received his PhD from Yeshiva University in 1964. After years of employment with a New York State Department of Mental Health psychiatric center, private practice, and becoming Director of Counseling for a college, Dr. Weltman went on to become the head of Psychology of a New York State forensic psychiatric center for the dangerously mentally ill and the mentally ill who commit criminal acts. He retired in 1994.

As part of his professional career he also helped children and adults with personal, neurological and developmental problems by creating techniques for treatment and diagnosis coordinated with a neurosurgeon and optometrist. This methodology maximizes the potential for patient development by capitalizing on the combined knowledge of the different professions. He also co-founded a perceptual training technique to teach and remediate reading. The TRY program was adopted state wide in California and other schools as well.

As part of his personal searching for more effective treatment methods for the troubled mind, Dr. Weltman turned to the role of spirituality in healing. This led him to explore his own spirituality and initiate a journey down a path of personal learning and warm interfaith interaction with different chaplains and followers. Through meditation and prayer, Dr. Weltman had experiences which made him profoundly aware of his true spiritual nature and the spirit dimension to which we all belong.

Even though he was raised and educated in the Jewish tradition, Dr. Weltman's personal journey led him to be additionally baptized as a Christian in 1986, fusing it with his Judaism. He was led deeper into his fused spiritual path, and experienced first-hand the presence of God from both traditions in his meditation and prayers. As part of his daily meditations, he would now receive from God the healing curriculum titled, "The Footladder of Notes Divine". The daily dictations began in 1998 and continue to the present day.

A controversial revelation about Mary, the mother of Jesus, was also given to him. Mary has been revealed as the Mother portion of God, with powers equal to those of Jesus as Father God.

Dr. Weltman's life experiences have shown him that the path to personal healing is through the realization of the spiritual nature we all share and our soul's ultimate goal of returning home to God. Because of this, Dr. Weltman was divinely led to establish the Christian Laity Foundation; an organization dedicated to personal healing and healing of relationships amongst God's followers from diverse denominations by concentrating on recovering the loving core beliefs of our true godly nature and its path to recovery of life eternal in oneness with God. The Foundation provides people with a curriculum supporting that pathway. This provides God with healers and reconcilers; first within the Christian denominations, and then by extending that same process into the world to help all people in the reawakening to their kingdom home in the heart of God.

The Christian Laity Foundation, a multi-denominational educational organization dedicated to rekindling people's quest for spiritual healing, seeks reconciliation between different denominations by refocusing members on the core teachings regarding their divine nature and human nature and their inevitable return to our Kingdom home with God. Many people become stalled in their search for their spiritual nature and need a skilled supportive milieu to refocus on the true spiritual essence. The Foundation provides an oasis for people to recharge their spiritual being. Dr. Weltman is now available for interviews, programming and as a speaker for functions. He has observed through his work with mankind's troubled mind, the extent to which it can prevent man from living in harmony with his spiritual nature, and what is required to overcome it. He has written two books on this subject, to be found on the Christian Laity Foundation website.

Additional revelations were received about people with Down's Syndrome and those of the Autism Spectrum having specific ministries for which they are heavenly sent into the world to accomplish.

Dr. Weltman prefers open forum type programming, meetings/discussions and speaking engagements where he will speak about a pre-selected topic for a defined period of time immediately followed by a question and answer period. If wished by members of the audience, Dr. Weltman will also facilitate a period of prayer and evaluation of the results of that opportunity.

As part of his expanding outreach, he hosts a live radio show "Spiritual Healing Radio", broadcast on WTBQ.com as well as a You Tube channel, "Healing Aspirations". He also continues his years of volunteer work in the local county jail and psychiatric center.

The Christian Laity Foundation conducts weekly healing meetings open to all wishing to attend.
