

These questions are provided for your further study and application of the message. Thoughtfully writing out the answers to these questions will help to drive home the point. It is also helpful to discuss your answers with others.

LifeGroup Discussion

Date: April 9, 2017

Psalm 119:97-104

1. What does it mean to meditate on God's word? How does Christian meditation differ from eastern (Buddhist, Hindu, New Age, etc...) meditation?
2. Read Job 32:7-9 and compare it with Psalm 119:98-99. What is it that gives these two young men so much confidence in their wisdom? How can you grow in wisdom?
3. Read Psalm 119:103. For some people, the Bible is an acquired taste kind of like black coffee. How can you acquire a greater desire or "taste" for the Word of God?
4. The Psalmist tells us in verse 101 and 102 that he keeps his "feet from every evil way," and that he does not "turn aside from your rules." What is the difference between falling into sin and running into sin? How should we discipline ourselves against both of these errors?
5. The Psalmist tells us that he doesn't turn from God's Word because God has taught him. What are some things that God has taught you? How have those lessons helped you to trust the Bible more?
6. Satisfaction can be conditioned toward particular goals. How can you learn to be more satisfied in God's word rather than other things?
7. Family verse: Read and memorize Psalm 119:97. Find ways this week that you as a family can meditate on God's word together and separately.