New Sermon Series

Today, we will continue in our sermon series Anxious for Nothing: How the Gospel Frees Us from Worry. There is much in the current cultural moment to make us fearful. Pandemic. Economy. Mandates. Politics. Violence. And much more! According to the 2021 Stress in America survey, more than 80% of Americans are reporting emotions associated with prolonged stress. While there is much to make us fearful, God has given us even greater reasons to remain faithful and hopeful and even joyful in these trying times. The gospel is the secret to the contentment we need when all around us seems to be shaking. During these seven weeks we will take a look at some of God's great provisions for our peace.
