READING HOMEWORK CHANGES

Reading homework is changing. We are working on our comprehension skills and following direction skills. This week's homework will be from your child's write in reader. It should stay in their backpacks at all times during the week as we will occasionally still use it in class. This week's assignment that is due Friday is pages 112—121. All answers should be in complete sentences and include the question in the answer whenever possible.
