The Object of Our Worship

Louis Rushmore

The object of Christian worship is Almighty God (Exodus 20:1-6; John 4:32) and Him alone (2 Samuel 20:21; Matthew 4:10). He, then, is the audience as Christian worshippers “worship him in spirit and in truth” (John 4:24). That means Christians are required to worship God in the way in which He through the Holy Spirit (2 Peter 1:20-21) has indicated in the New Testament. Therefore, human preferences and inclinations regarding Christian worship are less significant than what God expects from His children. Hence, what the child of God puts into worship is more important than what he perceives he gets out of worship. Yet, those spiritually attuned to worshipping God when and in the way He desires ought to derive gratification from that worship as well.

It is not necessary to spice up worship or to attempt to make it more spiritual. Nothing could be more spiritual than worshipping God in the ways that He appointed for mankind to worship Him. Obviously, many today change worship practices to suit themselves rather than God or to attract greater numbers of people. However, the New Testament church was able to turn the world upside down (Acts 17:6) with the simple Gospel of Jesus Christ. The pure Gospel without adornments (Galatians 1:6-9) “is the power of God unto salvation” (Romans 1:16) for all men. In it only can one discern how to worship God acceptable (Matthew 15:8-9).

Straight Outta Context

Matthew 18:20

“For where two or three are gathered together in My name, I am there in their midst.”

We are going to find that taking this passage and looking at it as a ticket to miss worship is again, “Straight Outta Context”

1. Be a _____ (1-5)

2. The Child and _____ (6-11)

3. _____ the Child (12-14)

4. The Child and _____ (15-20)

Happy ending...
Matthew 18:21-22 (_____ of the Child)

Dear Westhill Family- Sissy, myself and our entire family wish to express our sincere appreciation for the love and kindness shown our mom and our family both during her decline and at her passing. We will always be grateful and I want you to know how much it meant to us all. Our parents loved this congregation with all their hearts and we do as well. Thank you and may God continue to bless us all individually and as a congregation. A special thank you to those kind members who provided and hosted our family meal prior to mom's funeral. We can't thank you enough!!
-Buck Murphy

Thank You- for all of your loving words, cards, calls, & messages while I was ill. Your prayers mean so much.
-Tim Cooke

Thank You- for your calls, cards, visits, and prayers during my hospital stay. I love my Westhill Family!
