Why Didn't God Make Us Like Robots?

Kids Learn:

Love Without Choice Isn't Love at All

Dig Into the Bible:

Genesis 2:8-17; 3:1-6; Deuteronomy 30:15-20; 1 Corinthians 9:16-17

It's difficult as a parent to watch your child make a bad choice or fail in some way. There's always the temptation to micromanage or live your life through your kids. Finding a balance between protection and dictatorship is tricky! But giving your kids choices is an important part of building a relationship that's healthy, secure, and loving. Whenever possible, give your kids opportunities to make safe choices they can feel great about.
