Resource for homeschool materials:

1. Christian Home Education Fellowship (CHEF) of Alabama exists to promote and encourage Christian home education for the glory of God. Whether you are considering homeschooling, just beginning your homeschooling journey, or are a veteran homeschooling parent, our goal is to encourage, inspire, and equip you. homeschool-life.com/al/chefofalabama/
2. <http://www.hiphomeschoolmoms.com>
3. www.homeschoolbuyersco-op.org (membership is free)
4. Other sources for curriculum are Christianbook.com, timberdoodle.com, eBay
5. Rainbow Resources – rainbowresource.com
6. Central Baptist Church library
7. Early Works Family of Museums: earlyworks.com
8. First Baptist Fine Arts Ministry - www.schoolofflinearts.com (music, art, dance, drama)
9. Facebook groups that offer local activities: Rocket City Homeschooling Info, Connect, North Alabama Christian Homeschool Organization(NACHO), Libertas Classical Community

Curriculum checkout available at First Baptist Church- In the Equipping Center building (house beside the playground) on the 2nd floor in the hall items are available for use for your family. (There are some chapter books, games, etc. as well as curriculum) The materials are sorted by subject. Also, if anyone has items to donate, they can leave them on the shelf so they can be properly inventoried. To get into the building to look at the curriculum you will need to go to the church office during open hours to get in the building. You can use the items you choose for the school year and return them when finished. If there are consumable items you use, they do not need to be returned.

Tutoring:

Dyslexia Tutoring - Gayle Fowler 256-476-1460 Gayle has worked with Decatur City Schools for 27 years. She is a Certified Language Therapist and is licensed to teach students with dyslexia. She was trained through The Shelton School in Dallas, Texas. They use the Take Flight Curriculum published through the Scottish Rite Foundation. The approach is Orton Gillingham multisensory approach. She does not test students for dyslexia, but she does have a screener that she can give that shows the areas that are lacking.
