SECURITY UPDATE

Work continues to improve and upgrade the safety and security of Trinity Lutheran ChurchSchool.

Some of the most recent updates – as well as future plans - include:

Jeff Koenig, whose wife, Amy, teaches fifth grade at Trinity, has agreed to be the Ministry Team leader of the Safety Committee.

Interior cameras and trauma kits have been installed throughout the school.

Plans still are in place to install exterior cameras, escape ladders and to improve the exterior lighting of the church and school.

The Security Ministry Team – with help of Trinity's Pastors and Elders – is crafting security policies for weekend worship services.

Options still are being investigated for a vestibule for the main entrance of the school.

Trinity member, Ben Mims, who has served in many safety and security capacities, is volunteering as a security resource for the school. His involvement provides a safety presence during the school day. He also provides a resource to faculty and staff as well as the school children.

A special thank you to the Security Ministry Team for all its efforts. The team includes: Pam Douglas, Ben Mims, Phil Specht, Matt Knutsen, Scott Utter, Shawn Willard, Joni Rebarcak, Tim Davison, Michelle Warner, Ron Lund and Jeff Koenig.
