PASTOR'S CORNER

Brief Report on Recent Missions Trip

When I go on my missions trips, I try to stay for about 7 days. I am just such a creationist! Plus, I do find that the energy of my body is fully spent after seven days. My welcome, too, sometimes thins after seven days, because I usually try to stay in one place (often at a generous relative's house), which serves as my homebase while I travel to different locations during the day. (Where are those college days when I worked for Youth Hostel Ministries for ten weeks at a time!?)

During my most recent trip to Europe, I combined two events – a weekend where I taught elders, deacons, and pastors, concluding with a believers' baptism (Saturday-Sunday, July 26th-27th); and the following weekend a celebration with my classmates with whom I graduated from the 8th grade in 1965. Most often when I travel, I am working with various Romanian Baptist Churches in Serbia, Romania, Moldavia, and Hungary, even though there are occasions when I teach and preach in Serbian churches or non-Baptist churches as well. In 2025 I made a commitment to the Romanian Baptist Churches of Banat, Serbia to be with them on four different occasions – in January, April, July, and again in October. My weekend teaching can be with small groups of 10-20 people, and my preaching on Sundays can be in churches of 10 people, 50 people, or 500 people, which happened on this trip. Usually, I preach in two churches on Sundays. My preaching highlight was preaching to my former 8th grade classmates on Saturday, August 2, 2025. It is very interesting that while communism has disappeared from many of the Eastern European countries, some of the people that were educated in those years still think like pragmatic communists. Amidst the Q&A time after my homily, one of the classmates asked where God is going to place all of the risen people. (This was a professional question because he is a realtor, but also a non-believer.) (Continued on page 6)
