

Douglas Falknor,
Pastor

Therefore, confess your sins to one another, and pray for one another so that you may be healed. The effective prayer of a righteous man can accomplish much.
James 5:16

Please make a special effort to attend the worship service this Sunday evening as we focus our attention on pleading with God for revival. I will be preaching from 2 Chronicles 6-7, but my desire is that we would also spend time in corporate and private prayer.

We know the importance of prayer and believe that God's people should place a priority on prayer, but too often we push praying to the side while other (good) activities have our attention. Unfortunately, all of our good efforts will fall short of their potential because we have not sought the Father's will or been empowered by the Holy Spirit.

On another topic, it is not uncommon for someone to call the church office and ask if the church has a special fund for them to make a contribution in honor or memory of a friend or family member. We try to be helpful as we inform them of the variety of giving opportunities that are available. Yet, for a person who is not a member of First Baptist Church or wanting something more general, the number of specific options is not helpful.

When the Arkansas Baptist Foundation (ABF) recently began informing churches that the ABF can help churches establish a church endowment, our Stewardship Committee began exploring this opportunity. As a result, they voted to establish an endowment fund for First Baptist Church, creating a giving vehicle for individuals to make gifts with the potential to generate income for increased ministry.

Whether giving through the FBC endowment as a memorial or including it in a will or trust, this opportunity for giving will provide another option to support the ministry of First Baptist Church for the building of God's kingdom. A bulletin insert this Sunday will give you additional information and we plan to have a guest from the ABF to come and share with us how the endowment can be beneficial.

We long to use every resource from the hand of God to be used to proclaim the gospel for the glory of God.
