From Your Pastor

One of the things I hear frequently about First Baptist Church from new members and guests is that we are a "friendly" church. In a time where there is much de-personalization, it is important that the church of the Lord Jesus, who is interested in even the smallest detail of an individual, be warm and caring.

We have talked in our staff meetings about how we can do this even better. One of the things we have come up with is that when you greet a guest tell them your name and be sure you understand their name. After the service, visit with that guest and get to know a little about them. Don't be in a hurry!!

Something else you might do is invite those guests to your home for a meal and/or just a get acquainted visit. It will do wonders for you and for the Lord's work. One of the things that impressed Bob and Jennie Riggs about the church they attended when Bob was on sabbatical a few years ago, was that members of the Sunday School class they attended invited them to their homes.

I know it is difficult to carve out this kind of time, but remember, "we are ambassadors for Christ".

I'll look for you Sunday in Sunday School.

Love,
Preacher

Music in Ministry

One of the most fun services I can remember at FBC was the "All Church Sangin'" last August. Well, it's time for the 2nd annual "All Church Sangin'" - August 11. The evening promises to be full of gospel music sung by the Sanctuary Choir, ensembles, solos and congregation. A church wide watermelon feast on the front lawn will follow the service.

The Offutt Air Force Band, from Offutt, Nebraska, will give a free concert in our Sanctuary Thursday, August 1. The concert is sponsored by the Northwest Arkansas Times.

Scholarships are needed for students

This year we are taking our largest group ever to Student Week at Glorieta, August 10 - 16. In order to make this week of spiritual growth possible for some of our students, we need to provide scholarships. If you could help out by providing money toward a scholarship, it would be most helpful. A full scholarship is $100.00 but any amount would be appreciated. Designate your donation to the Student Scholarship Fund.

Thank You,
Kris
