Yes, I believe in God's providence

By Fr Fred

In the last two months, we have been asked to distribute envelopes for Catholic Charities and Catholic Mission, along with the other special collections. I wonder, at times, how much more of this burden our parishioners can take.

We all know that in the Adelaide Hills Catholic Parish, we are losing many generous benefactors who have long contributed immensely – not only to the parish but also to all other charities.

One parishioner who has since passed away used to donate their entire pension to various charities. Unfortunately, this is not being replaced by new generous benefactors. The numbers of people attending our weekend Masses is also dwindling. Every parishioner that passes away is not replaced, even by their own family members – and many who come to church have their own financial problems and find it hard to donate.

It is already a struggle to find new parishioners to become part of the Second Collection commitment, so imagine the response when they are asked to donate to these charities and other special collections throughout the year.

While this is a reality, it is not the entire story. As Christians who believe in the Providence of God, we need to look at the other side of the coin. We need to remind people that they need to not only thank God for all that he has provided us but listen to His call for us to share what we have with others.

Sometimes, we just shut our eyes and close our ears to the call to be generous. I firmly believe that every time I have been generous, God has always been more generous to me.

His providence has never failed me. If my concern is always looking at the bank account and hoarding for the future, I cannot be open to be generous to others. I have personal experience of people who have purchased items that they will probably seldom if ever use. The purchase was mostly to satisfy their desire to have a full wardrobe of clothes or a shed full of tools.

Parishioners join Fr Fred at anniversary of ordination celebration

By Debbie Somers

A Jubilarians Mass at St Francis Xavier's Cathedral on the evening of Wednesday 16 September 2026 celebrated the jubilees of ordained priests in the Archdiocese of Adelaide, among them Fr Fred, who recently celebrated his 40th year of ordination.

The Mass was very well attended, with members of our parish in attendance outnumbering those of other parishes. Five priests celebrated 25 years of service, another four 30 years, two (including Fr Fred) 40 years and two a whopping 60 years!

After the homily from Archbishop Patrick O'Regan, we witnessed a renewal of priestly service by all the priests who were present. The Archbishop then addressed the congregation, calling on us to pray for our priests.

"Ask the Lord to bless them with the fullness of his love, to help them be faithful ministers of Christ the High Priest so that they will be able to lead you to Him, the fountain of salvation," he said.

All present felt privileged to have witnessed what was a joyous occasion, and we feel truly blessed to have Fr Fred with us as our servant in Christ.

Believing in providence

Volunteer work does not replace charity.

I was always taught to be generous and trust in God's providence. My mother never refused anyone who, during my childhood, would knock on our door begging for charity. Every penny was important to maintain a family of six, but she still gave that penny to charity. And God's providence never abandoned us!

I am proud that many parishioners understand this principle and, in addition to the volunteer work they do, they are still charitable people.

I thank God that I had the opportunity to touch, feel and watch what it means to be poor, to have nothing, living in extreme poverty and not even knowing what they might eat every day.

To add something interesting to this story, when I set off on my missionary experience, we all had to find our own ways to cover the expenses involved.

There were three of us, all looking for airfares, pocket money, etc.

At first, it felt so difficult to achieve, but I kept my faith in God's providence. We did our best, hosting a market stall, running lotteries and the like, but still we fell short of the target. Then, one morning, a businessman heard of our fundraising activities and paid for all three airfares.

Although the people we went on to serve as missionaries had literally nothing, they always retained a belief in the providence of God, which I believe came from the generosity of others.

What a difference it made when a generous benefactor gave me $600 to send to Fr Gerard, who runs a breakfast kitchen in Pakistan, feeding hundreds of kids who come to school hungry every day.

I write this article only as a reflection, but with a strong conviction that I always trust in God's providence – and every time I have been generous, he has been more generous to me where charity has been concerned.

Our parish's future is a key focus as PPC Chair

By Inge Parodi

I am grateful for the opportunity to serve as Chair of the Adelaide Hills Parish Pastoral Council (PPC) and thought I would take a moment to introduce myself to those who might not know me.

I moved from South Africa to Australia in 2010 and am married to Nolan, whom you may recognise as a reader and Eucharistic Minister at our Bridgewater church. We have two beautiful children, Mia and Mika, who attend Stirling East Primary School, and are supported by my wonderful parents-in-law, Renate and Marius Parodi, who attend Our Lady of the Rosary.

As a family, we love caravanning and discovering beautiful Australia, and Nolan and I also enjoy trail running.

I work as CEO of a not-for-profit medical education organisation and have always enjoyed learning about governance and strategy.

Since joining the PPC as Secretary in 2024, I've particularly valued understanding governance within the Catholic Church and contributing to parish life through volunteering.

Taking on the Chair position felt like a natural way to continue that service. I hope to support welcoming, inclusive meetings with time for prayer and formation, strengthen communication between the PPC and parishioners, and work with Fr Fred and the Council to respond to parish priorities.

I'm particularly keen to help progress the Assembly actions around the future of our parish, community engagement, synodality and volunteering.

I'm grateful for the trust and support of Fr Fred and my fellow PPC members, and look forward to continuing to learn and contribute to our parish community.

Sacramental journey concludes with Holy Communion

The parish's Sacramental Programme 'Class of 2026' recently concluded their faith journey when the group celebrated the final milestone, Holy Communion, in front of a packed St Matthew's Bridgewater congregation of family, friends and parishioners on Sunday 16 August 2026.

At the end of the Mass, the group, pictured here, made their way onto the altar for a closing photograph with Fr Fred.

St Catherine's Catholic School News

Before Term 3 drew to a close and students headed off for a well-earned Spring break, we placed our commitment to care for our common home into focus by entering the East Waste Schools Program and taking part in – and absolutely smashing – our '800 Challenge'. School APRIM Krystina Dawe reports on these two initiatives, as well as a Catholic Charities fundraiser

East Waste Schools Video Competition

Little David went looking for a FOGO bin. He found one, and now he needs your vote.

Our Year 5 students made Little David's Search for a FOGO at St Catherine's School for the East Waste Schools Video Competition. Their challenge was to shine a light on the important issue of food waste and inspire our wider community to think about simple ways we can all reduce the amount of food we throw away.

Check it out, cast your vote and pass it on. Grandparents, aunts, uncles, neighbours and friends can all join in too.

One vote per device, so get everyone in the house on their own phone.

Vote for our East Waste entry

Our Year 5 students have been busy creating a wonderful video entry for the East Waste Schools Program. Their challenge was to shine a light on the important issue of food waste and inspire our wider community to think about simple ways we can all reduce the amount of food we throw away.

Please take a moment to watch their fantastic video, featuring our very own 'David Attenborough' as he explores our school in search of a FOGO (Food Organics, Garden Organics) bin. If you enjoy it, we would be most grateful if you could vote for our entry in the hope that our students are recognised at the East Waste Schools Program Showcase this term.

To vote, open the link below, find our St Catherine's School Stirling video in the list and cast your vote. It is one vote per person, so everyone in your house gets their own, on their own device. Grandparents, aunts, uncles, neighbours and friends can also all join in if you share the link with them. Voting closes at 5pm on Thursday 22 October.

Hearts of Gold for Catholic Charities

Our school community has once again shown that small acts of generosity can make a big difference through our recent Catholic Charities fundraiser. Students and families were invited to contribute coins, with each donation helping us create our special Heart of Gold Coin Line.

Our School Captains incorporated the fundraiser into our community prayer, helping us reflect on the importance of compassion, generosity and putting our faith into action. It was wonderful to see our community come together in support of Catholic Charities and the important work they undertake to assist people experiencing hardship.

Thank you to everyone who contributed and helped us show that at St Catherine's, we truly have hearts of gold!

We Smashed Our 800 Challenge!

To mark the 800th anniversary of St Francis of Assisi's birth, the Ecology Advisory Committee, schools were called on to participate in Rise Up: The 800 Challenge, inspiring them to choose a mission that promotes care for creation and complete it to the tune of 800.

Our mission was to achieve 800 nude food lunch boxes and so reduce single-use packaging and waste coming into our school. We absolutely smashed it, going well beyond the 800 goal and achieving an incredible 1,000-plus nude food lunch boxes! This fantastic result shows what we can achieve when we work together to make small but meaningful changes.

A huge thank you to all our students and families who embraced the challenge. While the 800 Challenge may be complete, we encourage all to keep the momentum going and continue choosing nude food wherever possible.

Safeguarding Sunday a time for reflection, prayer and apology

By Safeguarding Contact Person, Mark McGeough

The Catholic Church in Australia marks Safeguarding Sunday (formerly Child Protection Sunday) on the second Sunday of September each year, bringing to a close National Child Protection Week. In the Adelaide Hills parish, Safeguarding Sunday was moved to the third Sunday of September to coincide with the Children's Mass. Behind the altar the 40 works of art from St Catherine's Catholic School were displayed.

On Safeguarding Sunday, we pray for those who have been abused, their families and supporters. We recognise and apologise for the harm done in Church settings and acknowledge the vulnerability of some within our parishes and communities.

We also recommit to practices that support survivors and make the Catholic Church and its ministries the safest possible place for children and people at risk. Rebuilding trust and confidence in the Church requires constant work and vigilance. This year, the theme was "Love Protects" and it recognises that safeguarding is a practical expression of Christian love.

"'Love Protects' reminds us that genuine love is demonstrated through action," said chair of the Bishops Commission for Professional Standards and Safeguarding, Bishop Greg Bennet. "Safeguarding is an essential part of our mission and ministry. It calls each of us to be attentive, accountable and committed to ensuring that every person can participate in the life of the Church safely and with confidence."

Safeguarding Sunday also provides an opportunity to acknowledge the work of clergy, staff, volunteers and safeguarding leaders who work to foster cultures of safety and trust throughout church communities. In keeping with this statement, I was recommissioned as the Safeguarding Contact Person for the Adelaide Hills Parish during Mass.

Remember, if anyone in the parish with concerns or doubts about the wellbeing of a child or anyone who can be considered vulnerable, please feel comfortable approaching either Fr Fred or me, or even just pass on my contact details.

My phone number is 0491150758, my email address mcgeough@internode.on.net.

Olive tree planting to end Season of Creation

By the Ecology Group's John Leeton

The Season of Creation, an annual global ecumenical celebration where Christians unite in prayer, reflection, and environmental action to protect the natural world, ended on Sunday 4 October, fittingly on the Feast of St Francis of Assisi, which this year marked the 800th anniversary of his birth.

We recognised the month-long season – it started on 1 September – with an array of activities aimed at renewing our relationship with our Creator and all creation through celebration, conversion and commitment, and closed the season with the planting of an olive tree in the grounds of St Matthew's Bridgewater.

It joins a couple of existing olive trees...and here's hoping that in about five years' time, we'll be enjoying our home-grown olives!

With our first-ever visit to 'Recreate', a facility committed to recycling, coinciding with the publication of the October issue of The Bridge, we will be sure to report on it in the November issue, along with all the happenings on Ecology Sunday this Sunday, 18 October.

As is tradition, we will mark the day with a special outdoor (weather permitting) Mass, this year not at St Catherine's Catholic School but in the grounds of the Parish House.

All parishioners with pets are encouraged to bring their furry friends along and have them blessed by Fr Fred. We will also inject a community element into the day by hosting a sausage sizzle and running a market stall in the Parish Hall.

All the while, our monthly Working Bees continue, the most recent having taken place at St Matthew's Bridgewater on Saturday 26 September.

We achieved a fair bit, with Dan DeFazio installing a new irrigation system and Des Stapleton and I tidying the gardens, sweeping the paths and moving the compost.

On the subject, you will be interested to know that in the six months since we established the three compost bays at Bridgewater, we have filled the 1.5 cubic meter bays about 10 times.

The result was we had 1.5 cubic metres of soil and compost, which was spread on the rose garden. While it was reduced to 10% of its original volume and seems small, it saved a dozen trips to the dump and reduced extra lifting and carrying, not to mention petrol and trailer use.

While Working Bees are doubtless a bit of effort,

Fr Fred blesses the newly-planted olive tree to commemorate the 800th anniversary of St Francis of Assisi's birthday and bring to a close the Season of Creation they are certainly not what you would call work...and we would love to welcome newcomers to the group. For the record, I am the youngest at 67 years of age, with some in their 70s and a few even nudging 80.

That tells you everything you need to know!

If anyone's interested, why not come along to our next Bee on Saturday 24 October, see what it's like, enjoy the laughs and camaraderie that are guaranteed whenever we come together, and perhaps become a regular!

In closing, enjoy the Spring, appreciate God's creation.

CWL Stirling celebrates 55th anniversary in style

By Pam Broadbridge

Twenty-eight September 1971 was certainly an auspicious day in the life of Catholic Women's League (CWL) – after all, it marked the establishment of the Stirling Branch – but so too was Wednesday 16 September 2026 when 17 ladies and Fr Fred met at the Bridgewater Inn for a celebratory lunch to mark the branch's 55th birthday.

We were blessed to have Mary Way OAM and an inaugural member as our guest speaker, reminiscing about the early days. She recalled how Fr Gavan Kennare came to the Stirling Parish in 1958 and, more than a decade later, Parish Council member Betty Carver suggested establishing a CWL Stirling Branch. The first meeting, in 1971, took place in her Stirling home and was attended by CWL State President Nell Kain and Barbara Grealy from the CWL Adelaide Archdiocese.

Isabel Sykes was elected inaugural President but soon 'handballed' the presidency to Margaret Nichols who, in turn, passed it on to Mary Way the following year. The first Secretary was Elisabeth Anderson. From the beginning, the women actively supported ecumenism, and Mary and Margaret recall the first Annual Ecumenical Luncheon in the Congregational Hall, Orley Avenue, Stirling on 27 June 1972, with 120 people in attendance.

Over the years, CWL members joined in various church activities including playing the organ, singing in the choir, polishing the brass at Easter, and cleaning the church and the priest's house.

Sue Williams, CWL Adelaide Archdiocese Secretary and CWLSA State President also gave a talk, congratulating members on reaching the milestone and praising the Stirling Branch for long being a strong and faithful branch blessed with energetic leaders who have always encouraged and led many branch activities and fundraising events, as well as attended Archdiocesan and State meetings.

"Catholic Women's League should never be a burden to anyone," she said. "It should be a support to every one of you. We are very lucky to be members at this point in its history, I hope you value and make the most of your membership, and I wish CWL Stirling all the best for the future while looking forward to your 60th anniversary."

Feast celebrated at OLOR

With our church at Stirling East dedicated to Our Lady of the Rosary, we celebrated the Feast of Our Lady of the Rosary on Sunday 11 October, with a recitation of the Rosary at 5.10pm followed by Mass at 5.30pm and a post-Mass sausage sizzle.

Family and friends of Gabrielle and Michael Morgan gathered at OLOR's Memorial Garden late last month for the interment of the couple's ashes

Morgans laid to rest in OLOR Memorial Garden

By Gabrielle's niece, Francesca Dickinson

On a superb Spring morning on 25 September, the ashes of Gabrielle and Michael Morgan were lovingly and thoughtfully laid to rest in the Memorial Garden of the Our Lady of the Rosary Church in Stirling East.

Gabrielle was a beloved parishioner and had a special delight in the weekly Monday Rosary held there. She came to the Adelaide Hills Catholic Parish as a newly widowed from Tasmania and was a regular at St Matthew's Bridgewater, where she found a warm and supportive community and received a generous welcome.

She was an active parishioner for over six years, joining the 'widow's league', writing and helping with the church Bulletin, preparing articles for The Bridge, serving as a Reader of the Word and generally helping others.

She, in turn, was helped by others in the beautiful family of God in her times of distress. I attended services with Gabrielle and was impressed by the reverence and readings of the word.

While I am Gabrielle's niece and next of kin, I live in rural Victoria and was unfortunately not always able to attend to her needs. However, Fr Fred is a treasure, and I always had the total reassurance that he and so many in the parish showered her with tireless care and love.

Indeed, your example has helped me become a regular attendee of my local Catholic parish and I humbly thank you all.

Marmalade-mania across the parish

By Cathie Oswald

Many may not have noticed the beautiful Seville orange tree which growing in the garden adjacent to the church at Bridgewater. The distinctive bitterness of the Seville orange and its high pectin content are perfect for marmalade, and I eagerly watched the fruit mature so that I could commence my marmalade adventures.

Marmalade making is an adventure because while there are only three ingredients (fruit, sugar and water), one never quite knows how it will turn out as difference in water content, cooking length and when the sugar goes in yield different consistencies.

When John Leeton presented me with the oranges he had picked, I knew I had work to do.

As I produced batch after batch of marmalade, each one a little different from the one before, I had no idea what I was going to do with it...until parishioners purchased approximately 80 jars of marmalade.

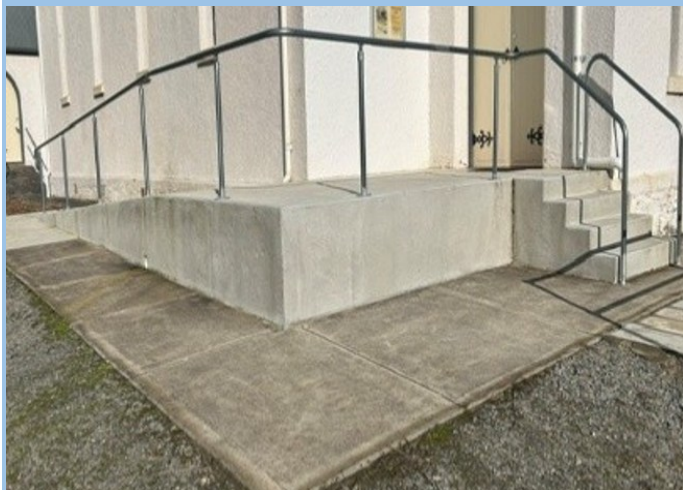

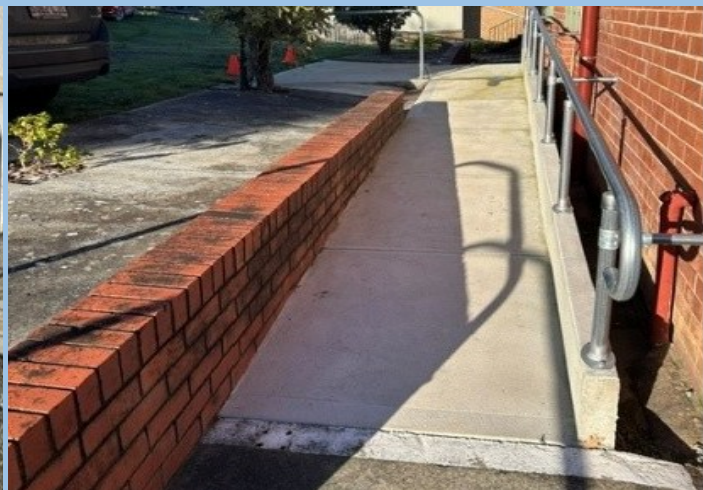

Paul Somers, left, with his purchases, while Marie Bryce and Cathie Oswald busily restock the table

All our churches now inclusive and welcoming

By Fr Fred

The four places of worship within the Adelaide Hills Catholic Parish – St Matthew's Bridgewater, St Matthew's Birdwood, St Joseph the Worker Lobethal and Our Lady of the Rosary Stirling East – were all built in an era where there was no legislation demanding that such places ought to be also accessible for disabled people.

When legislation came out, it demanded accessibility for new churches but this demand did not extend to existing places of worship. However, during our ongoing discussions about health and safety issues and how best to address them, this glaring shortcoming came into sharp focus.

We were faced by two issues – firstly, an enormous financial expense given how our churches were built; and secondly, the fact that there was no obligation on us to provide disabled access in our old churches.

Through our Health and Safety Officer, Marianne Berry, we all agreed that regardless of lack of legislation, we needed to do the right thing by our congregation. After all, access ways ensure that everyone, including those with disabilities, can participate fully in all church activities and services.

We owe it to all to create inclusive, accessible and welcoming environments...and things like steps, narrow doorways, dim lighting and cluttered walkways can prevent people with disabilities from feeling welcome or getting involved.

Access ways also help create a sense of belonging and community, allowing people with disabilities to feel an important part of the congregation.

By addressing these barriers, our churches can create a more inclusive and welcoming environment for all individuals, regardless of their physical, sensory, cognitive, psychosocial, or other access needs.

As our finances became stronger, we embarked on a programme to address all shortcomings in this area. And today, we are pleased to say that all of our churches have an accessible ramp for disabled people.

It warmed my heart when, after we had completed the ramp at St Joseph's Lobethal, a disabled parishioner, after navigating her wheelchair along the new ramp for the first time, exclaimed that after missing out for eight long years, she could finally come to Mass at Lobethal.
