Tom was born in Nashville and raised in Fort Worth, and resides in Weatherford. After graduation from UTA, his vocation was in microbiology, chemistry and emerging pharma companies for Johnson and Johnson and Aptalis Bio Tech. His advocacy was in Civil War history. As an avid researcher, he enjoys his memberships in Civil War Round Table and SCV. After 25 years of research on the Waco Guards, 7th Texas Infantry Regiment, he co-authored the popular book "Lone Star General, Hiram B. Granbury" which will be available for purchase.

The subject of his talk, and perhaps a future book, tells the story of an amazing Maryland woman who would become Mrs. Granbury's nurse, caretaker of the wounded at Sharpsburg, wife of the prominent Texan Henry Rosenberg, generous philanthropist, devout Christian, and patron saint of the UDC. Her legacy is one of devotion and ministry to others, to do all the good within her power and to render all about her happy. Her journey began with her home being in the proximity of the Battle of Sharpsburg.
