Family Sunday:

Today, February 15th, our children will lead worship, and we welcome Horace McMillon as our guest speaker. After the service, please join us for a community meal, bring your family and friends ~ everyone is welcome!

Guest Speaker:

Horace McMillon is the creator of 60 Seconds of Hope, a devotional series and podcast offering brief, Scripture-centered encouragement for everyday life. His writing speaks to those seeking faith that is honest, accessible, and rooted in hope—especially in seasons of waiting, uncertainty, and renewal.

With a pastoral heart and a practical voice, Horace writes for people who desire a deeper connection with God while navigating busy, demanding lives. Each devotional is intentionally concise, inviting readers to pause, reflect, and encounter God's enduring presence—one minute at a time.

Horace earned a BA from Oberlin College with an emphasis in Religion and Philosophy and an MA in Theology from Chicago Theological Seminary. He has also completed Clinical Pastoral Education (CPSP) through Baptist Health Systems.

In 2024, Horace launched Community of Hope, where he currently serves as director. He brings more than 22 years of pastoral experience, including 17 years as senior pastor of Open Door Mennonite Church in Jackson, Mississippi, and five years as associate pastor of Community Mennonite Church in Markham, Illinois. He is ordained in both the Missionary Baptist and Anabaptist traditions.

A committed “tentmaking” minister, Horace and his wife of nearly 30 years both work full-time while supporting their ministry independently. His passion is to equip, empower, and inspire people to live into the fullness of Jesus' vision—here and now, and for the life to come.

You can find Pastor Horace's work on TikTok at @horace.mcmillon, on YouTube at @60secondsofhope, and through his podcast, 60 Seconds of Hope with Horace McMillon.

Tarry Here: The Spiritual Work of Waiting and Witnessing A Worship Series for Black History Month and the Lenten Journey:

This February, we are invited to explore what it means to tarry spiritually ~ to wait on God with faith, courage, and communal hope. Rooted in Scripture, African American history, and Anabaptist peace witness, this four-week series reflects on how waiting has been both a spiritual discipline and a form of resistance in the struggle for freedom and justice.

Through worship, storytelling, communion, family-centered experiences, and communal meals, we will remember the faith of our ancestors, listen for the movement of the Spirit, and discern how God calls us to wait faithfully ~ and act courageously ~ in 2026. Come, tarry with us ~ for though the vision may linger, it will surely come.

Free Community Meal:

Freeport Church of the Brethren has free community meals the second Saturday of each month, from 5:00-6:30 p.m.

Wednesday Evenings ~ Lenten Season:

We have been invited to join Freeport Church of the Brethren during the Lenten Season, on Wednesday evenings beginning February 25th at 6:00 p.m. continuing through the end of the season. If you are interested in attending, please send an email to freeportmennonitechurch@gmail.com or leave a message on the church phone (815-255-0943) by February 19th, so we can let Pastor Christina know how many to expect.
