Hear what some New Life members have said about their experience participating in the ministry of the Unbound Conference:

“Unbound teaches a biblical perspective on walking out our freedom in Christ in a well-planned and thorough way. Referencing many Scriptures throughout, it begins with repentance and faith, moving on to owning our responsibility to forgive others, then, in Jesus' authority, renouncing (or putting off) both our own sins and the impact of sins against us, and concluding with a focused reminder of the Father's blessing on us. Unbound teaches a practical way of grasping the Gospel and applying it to our lives that can be really effective in helping people find freedom in this broken world we live in today.”

“Many folks in our church long to experience spiritual freedom and live as sons and daughters of the God; the teaching done in the Unbound conferences corresponds to many of the things we have learned at New Life about being a son/daughter of God.”

Manuel Hackman

“Unbound digs into the nature of the enemy's deception, and once this is understood, one can begin to trace back those roots of deception in our hearts. It is so powerful to expose those sins, lies, and areas of unforgiveness to the light, and to renounce them in Jesus name, knowing that we can forgive and be unburdened by those things. That has been huge in my life, as peace and joy had often seemed so elusive before.”

“We all know people in God's family who struggle with brokenness and walk with long ago heart wounds that seem to keep them from growing in the love and power of Jesus Christ. That had been so true for me at one time. I had wondered if I could ever have freedom to love boldly in my walk with the Lord, to know Jesus intimately or to feel in the depths of my soul the favor of our Father. Through the work of Unbound ministry, I have come to know on a deeper level the Lord's intimate love and forgiveness and power. The Unbound ministry model gives us a set of tools that, used in concert with the Holy Spirit, has the power to change lives and hearts, churches and families. It is not only the unsaved that Jesus came to free, it is also for us in His family.”
