

Adventures at AIMS...coming together as a community

New & Improved Mission Statement

Amelia Island Montessori School embodies a child-centered education, grounded in Montessori philosophy and methodology supporting the “whole child,” inspiring independent thinkers and cultivating collaborative citizens.

This new statement is a revision of the mission that has served the school for the past few years and could be found all over campus and in our handbooks. Our entire faculty took part in powerful collaborative examination of who we are, what we are, and why we choose to be here as part of a self-study for our accreditation process. We spent many hours discussing our history, values, strengths and shortcomings of the previous mission statement. The Board of Trustees was involved in this revision process as well, and continues to be a part of analyzing our procedures and practices in order to achieve our goal of re-accreditation with the standards of the Florida Council of Independent Schools (FCIS) and accreditation with the standards of the American Montessori Society (AMS). We believe that this new mission provides better clarity for our community and resonates as an inspiration of what we do daily at AIMS.
