

Cara Walsh

Cara has been working to support the development, implementation, and delivery of restorative justice principles and practices since 2010. She provides training, consultation, facilitation, and program development within criminal justice, education, youth correctional, and community settings to support institutions in making systemic and cultural changes through restorative justice implementation. Her professional and educational experience is grounded in her passion for creating collaborative, authentic, and equitable spaces to support personal and community transformation and social change.
