

Randall Clegg

I am a Peer Support Specialist, restorative justice practitioner, and community advocate dedicated to helping people impacted by incarceration rebuild their lives and reconnect with their communities. After spending 29 years incarcerated with a life without the possibility of parole sentence, I was granted clemency and released in December 2023. My experiences have fueled a deep commitment to supporting others, promoting accountability, and creating opportunities for healing and transformation.

I currently work for ReGroup, an organization that supports individuals, families, and communities affected by incarceration. Through peer support, mentorship, and community engagement, I help people navigate the challenges of reentry while encouraging hope, growth, and long-term success.

I believe that people are more than the worst thing they have ever done and that everyone deserves the opportunity to heal, grow, and thrive. I simply want to do what I can to help make that possible.
