Mission:

We gather as a welcoming community to worship,
grow in faith and serve as Jesus served.

MAY 3, 2026 THE FIFTH SUNDAY OF EASTER

1st Reading: Acts 6.1-7 † 2nd Reading: 1 Peter 2.4-9 † Gospel: John 14.1-12

THEME: WE ARE THE ROYAL AND PRIESTLY PEOPLE

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

On this 5th Sunday of Easter, the Church reminds us of whom we are: “The chosen race and the royal priesthood, who would be and reign with Christ. Today we have gathered to exercise our royal priesthood by offering a spiritual sacrifice as Christ did”.

In today's first reading, the drama that unfolded led to the election of seven deacons to take care of the social needs of the believers. We can learn the following lessons from this reading. First, we must not neglect or take our communities' social or material needs for granted. If left unattended, they could undermine the work of God. Second, we must balance our spiritual and material needs because both are important. Peter rightly noted that the mundane should not distract us from our mission and vocation. The spiritual will undoubtedly suffer if we pay too much attention to material needs.

In today's gospel, Jesus assures us of a place in his kingdom: “Let not your hearts be troubled. There are many rooms in my father's house, so where I am, you may be too”. This indicates that by baptism, we are indeed children of God. This is why he considers us worthy of being where he will be. Unfortunately, some of us do not know who we are or believe there is a beautiful place prepared for us by Christ. This is also the reason many of us cannot maximize our priestly and royal potential. As priests and people of royal descent, we must assert ourselves positively. Therefore, let us ask God the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ to help us live as members of the royal priesthood.

OUR LADY OF PERPETUAL HELP, PRAY FOR US

St. Patrick's Parish
2060 Haultain Street
Victoria, BC V8R 2L7

Dear Friends in Christ,

As was recently announced, with the upcoming reassignment of Fr. Benson Asuming, Fr. Silvichan Dominic CFIC has been appointed Pastor of St. Patrick's Parish in Victoria and Bishop's Delegate and Chaplain of St. Patrick's School, effective July 1, 2026. This is undeniably a time of change for the parish, and change can bring feelings of uncertainty and loss. But change is a normal part of a Catholic community's life, a process of transformation that can be positively embraced.

To help your parish through these changes in pastoral leadership, please find attached a document entitled "A Reflection on Change for Parish Communities" that may serve as a useful tool. The process of 'change management' relies on a Pastor's mature leadership, the gifts of the community at St. Patrick's, and the Grace of the Holy Spirit that leads and guides communities through change. Although it can be difficult, the process truly provides opportunities for reflection, growth, and renewal.

I pray this that this time will be an opportunity for the community of St. Patrick's to see Christ through new encounters, and to develop new ways to grow as a Catholic faith community. I am confident that as a community, St. Patrick's will work together to support each other through this change.

Please keep in prayer the Priest Personnel Committee as they work to discern and meet the pastoral needs of all the parishes in the Diocese.

In Communion,

Most Reverend Gary Gordon
Bishop of Victoria

A Reflection on Change for Parish Communities

Then Peter said to Jesus, “Rabbi, it is good for us to be here; let us make three dwellings, one for you, one for Moses and one for Elijah.”<sup>1</sup> And Peter took him aside and began to rebuke him, saying “God forbid it, Lord! This must never happen to you.”<sup>2</sup>

The two narratives above are scenarios where Peter is speaking to Jesus, specifically about not wanting things to change. The first is a “mountain moment” that Peter didn’t want to lose; much like when communities are pleased with their priest and they say to the bishop, “you can’t move him; we want him to stay.” The second foretells of a “valley moment”, where Jesus says he will die and be resurrected; much like the mourning some communities go through with the loss of “their priest”, not recognizing the new priest as a potential for new life. Both narratives may serve as scriptural reflections when an announcement is made that their priest is moving to another community.

When all is going well, and the priest and community are in general harmony, where the work of the Holy Spirit is evident in faith practices and the Sacraments, when the support of the community for the priest is strong, and there is a sense of inclusion of all families, we act like Peter and say: “let’s keep this moment, change will take all of this away”. When there is a strong emotional bond to a pastor, communities feel that no one else can or should be their faith leader. However, when things are not working well within a community, often change is demanded from the bishop, and communities do not want to wait until the bishop makes changes across the Diocese. Both are self-centered thinking and create an environment resistant to change and growth.

Change can be a double-edged sword, but we must first see it as a positive life event for both the priest and the faith community. Change to some may mean there are losses, and the grieving of these losses. Separation caused by change leaves some in the community feeling like lost sheep, or spiritual orphans and widows. Losing a priestly father may bring with it feelings of anger, or a sense of unfair treatment. Communities must recognize change as normal and usually a healthy process that sparks reflection, facilitates new pastoral goals, and celebrates the universality of our faith and unity in our particular Diocese.

Priests are called to serve wherever they are needed. It is inherent in the priestly calling and their vocation. In that call and answer to serve God in communion with their bishop or religious superior is the uncertainty of change when communities lose their current pastor. Change, in its simplest form, is a process of transformation that can be positively embraced. It is a normal part of a Catholic community’s life, and of a Catholic priest’s ministry. It is an opportunity for the community to see Christ through new encounters.

The following suggestions may be helpful in dealing with changes in pastoral leadership:

1. Recognize that it is also a time of celebration for the community with their outgoing pastor. These should be celebrations of the successes of the past few years, and hope for the next few years.
2. Individuals who are experiencing loss and feelings of grief can spend time in prayer, in silence before the tabernacle, in meditation, or through relaxation exercises to allow the Holy Spirit to rise and heal the feelings and thoughts they are experiencing.

3. When times of community doubt or turmoil arise, it is important for communities to create opportunities to share their feelings. Here lies an opportunity for lay leaders and the Parish Pastoral Council to organize time for the community to express their feelings, to dialogue, and to seek comfort and peace with accepting the change. The focus should be planning for the new reality.
4. Take time to prepare for the departure of the current priest, and express appreciation for their service to the faith community. Celebrate their time with you, and the gifts they brought, and brought out, during their time with the community. If there is a mutual desire to maintain contact, establish the means this could take.

Embracing change without judgement, with a sense of moving towards a new encounter with Christ, is the bedrock on which to continue building a community's house of faith. Change allows for a time to reflect on what a community believes its gifts are, and to consider how these will be offered to God. Perhaps there will be different and creative ideas that will grow. Be open to new perspectives and developing new ways to grow as a Catholic faith-community.

Accepting and embracing change positively allows for hearts, minds, and spirits to be touched by others. Being open to a new experience will help to build the Body of Christ within your community through current members, perhaps new catechumens, those who have become complacent in their faith, and those who, having left the church, may be seeking to reconnect with God.

"I give you a new commandment, that you love one another. Just as I have loved you, you also should love one another. By this everyone will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another."<sup>3</sup>

Take Jesus' words into your heart, and reach out with a spirit of love to greet the new reality. Try not to let opinions of others influence how you will welcome this change. Let the mutual love in which Jesus calls his disciples, be the starting point to build together. The role of a priest is to be "In persona Christi", to be a Servant Leader animated by the Holy Spirit, and to use the gifts of the Father in the world; to bring about His Kingdom here and now. Your role is to be faithful and to persevere in striving to do God's will, until the next change you will be asked to accept and embrace.
