“Godliness is the child of truth, and it must be nursed, if we will have it thrive, with no other milk than of its own mother. Therefore we are exhorted to ‘desire the sincere milk of the word, that we may grow,’ (1 Peter 1:2) if this milk be but a little dashed with error, it is not so nutritive. All error, how innocent soever any may seem, like the ivy, draws away the strength of the soul's love from holiness.”
