

Built for Boldness! (Part 4)- Going Deeper Questions

Sunday, October 25, 2026

Question #1: Read Acts 3:1-10. Peter and John were simply going about their normal routine when they encountered the lame man. Why do you think it can be difficult to recognize divine opportunities in the middle of our ordinary routines? What are some things that can cause us to overlook people who may need Jesus? Who is someone God may be asking you to truly “see” rather than simply pass by?

Question #2: Peter told the man, “I don’t have any silver or gold for you. But I’ll give you what I have.” What does this statement teach us about what God expects us to offer others? What are some excuses we use when we feel like we don’t have enough to give? What has God already given you that could be used to encourage, serve, or reach someone else? How does Acts 1:8 change the way we should view our ability to be a witness?

Question #3: Peter took the lame man by the hand and helped him up before seeing the outcome. Why is it often difficult to take a step of faith when we don’t know what will happen? How is trusting God with the outcome different from being responsible for our obedience? Is there an area of your life where God may be asking you to take a step before you see the result?

Question #4: Boldness is not the absence of fear; boldness is the willingness to act when the Holy Spirit gives you an opportunity. How would you explain the difference between being fearless and being bold? Can someone be afraid and still demonstrate biblical boldness? Why? What role does the Holy Spirit play in giving us the courage to act? What would greater boldness look like in your everyday life?

Question #5: The healing of one man ultimately became an opportunity for thousands to hear and believe in Jesus (Acts 4:4). Why do we sometimes underestimate the potential impact of one act of obedience? Can you think of a time when someone else’s simple act of obedience had a significant impact on your life? How might your obedience affect people beyond the person you initially reach?

Challenge:

1. Ask the Holy Spirit to put one specific person on your heart who needs Jesus, encouragement, or hope. Pray for that person every day this week.
2. Look for an opportunity to ask someone how they are really doing, share what Jesus has done in your life, invite them to Encounter, or offer to pray with them.
3. Act in obedience even when you don’t know the outcome, trusting God with the results.
