

CHRIST COVENANT CHURCH

Core Seminars

Sunday Mornings - 9:00 AM

Core Seminars is our church's main equipping time. It's akin to what many churches call Sunday School or an Adult Education Hour, but where many churches use this time for age-graded fellowship or teaching related to a particular stage of life, we think Core Seminars can give us something much more unique and helpful as a church family.

Like many churches, we encourage our folks to meet during the week for discipleship, accountability and small group Bible study, but what is often missing from many local churches is an integrated system of teaching that begins to equip members in the foundational and overarching truths of our God, theology, ministry and the history He has authored. And this is where Core Seminars fill a needed gap.

Core Seminars provide teaching in a variety of subjects, including basic Christianity for new believers, Bible overviews, doctrine, church history, living as Christian, missions, worldview and practical help with friendship, marriage, parenting and knowing God's will. The goal is to provide our church with a growing backpack of resources that will help us know the Bible better and live the Christian life more faithfully.

Because time is short on Sunday mornings, these classes are primarily focused on communicating the lesson during the time frame allotted. However, we do greatly encourage more interaction with the material through outside conversations during the week. Along these lines, once you have completed all the classes offered or have taken the ones being offered that semester, one great way to apply what you're learning is to consider going back through a track with a younger Christian or your son or daughter and use the class as a tool to spur discipling conversations the rest of the week.
