

Dear NBEPC Family:

Happy Summer to you! Pools are open, gardening is now a way of life for hobbyists, and vacations are now well underway.

Here at New Bedford Church, the Vision Team has wrapped up its comprehensive work and finalized just last night (as of this writing) the Church Life and Ministry Vision. The next step is that sometime in August, a presentation will be made to Session at a special Session meeting. Following that and with tweaking and approvals by Session, the Vision Team will host a series of informational meetings for the congregation, likely sometime in September. Following that, both the Implementation Team and the Pastor Search Team will be formed. A big thank you to Cindy Bell, Debi Fynes, Lee Harris, Doug Houk, Sam Jones, and Erika Taylor for their outstanding work, as well as those who were on their prayer teams over these past months.

Starting on June 20, Connie and I will attend the EPC General Assembly held this year at Ward Presbyterian Church outside of Detroit, which is also one of the founding churches in the denomination. I look forward especially, to hearing from one of the authors of “Turning Everyday Conversations Into Gospel Conversations” and to attending a session on persecution led by Pastor Andrew Brunson.

During early June, I was able to complete sermon outlines through January 2023, so am pleased to announce to you two upcoming series I will be doing, following General Assembly and vacation time. First will be a two-part series from the New Testament letter of Jude. And yeah, since you know me now and my penchant for all things pop culture, I am calling the series, “Hey Jude”! Following that will be a five-part series from Colossians called, “Missing Pieces.” The idea behind this series will be addressing the false notion that you need something else besides a relationship with Jesus to be considered “spiritual.”

It’s going to be a full summer, as I am sure it will be for you, too. May God fill these warm months for you with joy and hope and purpose. We love you all.

Blessings,

Pastor Dan and Connie
