Fall is here! That means there are only two more months of summer weather, but kids are in school and the new routines are settling in. This fall will be a special one here at PCC. We have a lot of things, not only to be involved with, but also to celebrate!

Marcus Allen

First off, we have our new service times. Our first service will be at 9 a.m. and our second service will start at 11 a.m. This will be a big step as we are offering all of our children's worship and STIR services (Middle & High School age) during both. These times will help families with children better access to the first service and help those who are volunteering to serve. It will also ease our space issues in the parking area as well.

In October we will celebrate the two year investment on our No Limits project and the building should be nearing completion as well. It's been a tremendous journey that God has led us on over this time and it will be a time to thank and praise Him for all he's done!

In addition, small groups will be forming and Wednesday Nights will be starting on September 12th at 6:30.

This season will mark a new chapter in the life of PCC and we'll see many new ways to reach out to the community around us as well as grow together as a family. I'm beyond blessed to see all that God is doing in so many lives and we can look forward with great anticipation! More and more we can see that our God is a God of NO LIMITS!

Children's Minister

Nick Rowland

What a crazy year it's been here at PCC. We are definitely in a season of change around here. Change can be exciting and invigorating at times. Change can also be uncomfortable and revealing. While some of the changes here at PCC are purely physical we are also seeing the community change around us. New faces, new ministers, new times, new rooms, new buildings, new ministries and new volunteers can be overwhelming. This community is a home to us. We care passionately and deeply about it and the people here. Sometimes we are like a momma bear when anything begins to disrupt this place of refuge. We want to protect and preserve what we've known and cherished. I'll be honest that for me and my family we are a little nervous about all the change as well.

As we grow as a church family it will require us to adjust our methods. My family operates differently than it did before children. It operated differently with 1 child and even more so now with 2. With a growing family at home we have less time for date nights, more laundry, more expenses, less sleep but we have a family that I wouldn't trade for the world. I've experienced love in entirely new ways not only with my children but with my wife in whom I've seen in an entirely new lens. The sacrifice, the lost sleep, the expenses, the pregnancy (its hard on the guys too), they were all worth it.

As a church my prayer is we can see this season of change in this way. Our family is growing, we are gaining new siblings each week and God's Kingdom is expanding. The faithfulness of the men and women here long before our time is still changing lives. The faithfulness of you and I now, will continue this good work. Your capacity to love and serve will be stretched, but it will be worth it. I pray that Paul's words here would resonate with us all.

"For our light and momentary troubles are achieving for us an eternal glory that far outweighs them all. So we fix our eyes not on what is seen, but on what is unseen. For what is seen is temporary, but what is unseen is eternal." 2 Corinthians 4:17-18

Missions Update

Mark 16:15 He said to them, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to all creation."

For this month's mission spotlight, I wanted to highlight a former member of our youth group at PCC, Brittany Bergman. We have recently supported her as a church during her internship in ministry in Chile. She has recently accepted a position in the Women's Ministry for Campus Christian Fellowship of the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill. CCF is a non-denominational ministry serving the students. CCF serves to help transition students from church youth groups to campus ministry, share the gospel with non-believing students, and prayerfully lead small groups. We, at PCC, will be partnering with Brittany next year through monthly support.
