FROM THE PASTOR

Good Things Come to Those Who Wait

After 40 years of wandering in the wilderness, the Georgia Bulldogs have entered the Promised Land as National Champions of college football. Having suffered defeat after defeat at the hands of Pharaoh Saban in Alabama, Joshua Smart has led God's children into the land of championship trophies and overpriced merchandise, which I will certainly be purchasing!

I was 13 years old on New Year's Day in 1981 when the University of Georgia last tasted life in the Promised Land, and it feels good to be back. When I woke up Tuesday morning, I checked the news on my phone to make sure what I thought had happened had really happened, and then I joined the psalmist who calls us to "waken the dawn with our praises."

While I have gotten carried away with religious language, it is all in jest. Though I did not hear it last night, athletes will sometimes thank Jesus for the victory. As much as I love sports, I do not think Jesus determines or even cares about who wins a sporting event. I do believe Jesus celebrates with us our victories accomplished with integrity and comforts us when we experience loss. But athletic accomplishment is not the kind of "victory" Jesus gives. To believe so is to trivialize the providence and sovereignty of God in a world of profound suffering.

Because I was away at school and decided for my own safety not to spend four hours in a restaurant with yelling strangers, I had to watch the game alone in my hotel room. I was texting throughout the game with several friends, but joy is not the same when experiencing it alone. That's why God has given us to each other. Just as many of us have ended a football season in a community of broken hearts, joy is greater when shared. This is true in every area of life. And though I don't believe God influences the outcome of athletic competitions, the old adage is often true that "good things come to those who wait."

May we not have to wait another forty years. May we also follow the biblical admonition to "weep with those who weep and rejoice with those who rejoice" (Romans 12.15). Because sometimes the goodness of life just overflows. Think about it: For those of us who pull for the right teams, in a period of 70 days, we have celebrated three championships! Go Braves! Go Canes! Go Dawgs!
