

The Rev. Dr. Thomas Farrow, Jr. is a devoted preacher and teacher who has a passion for working at the intersection of church and community. He has been serving as the Senior Pastor of Reeder Memorial Baptist Church in Charlotte, NC, for the past seven years, where he has established himself as an inspiring leader. Under his direction, Reeder has grown remarkably, expanding its reach in and around Charlotte and beyond. Before his tenure in Charlotte, Rev. Farrow served for six years at First Baptist Church of Clinton.

Rev. Farrow is a well-rounded individual, holding a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration and a Master of Arts degree in Mental Health Counseling from North Carolina Central University. His commitment to learning and growth led him to obtain a Master of Divinity Degree from Campbell University, and most recently, he completed his Doctor of Ministry Degree from the same institution.

Rev. Farrow is devoted to God and demonstrates a unique and dynamic preaching and teaching style. He approaches his ministerial duties with genuine earnestness, sincerity, and humility. His sermons have resonated across various contexts, including prisons, nursing homes, and diverse denominational traditions. He is actively involved with the United Missionary Baptist Association, the Lott Carey Baptist Foreign Mission Convention, and the General Baptist State Convention of NC Inc., where he serves on the Executive Board.

In the community, Pastor Farrow volunteers at local schools, sits on multiple boards, and regularly fosters relationships with community partners. Recently, he received the "Heart of Charlotte" Award from Northeastern University - Charlotte for his outstanding community engagement efforts. Rev. Farrow was acknowledged as one of the region's rising leaders under the age of 40 by the Fayetteville Observer and has garnered numerous honors and awards throughout his ministry. However, his true source of joy resides in his family. He is blessed with a loving wife, Kembrie Farrow, who works as a social worker in the Charlotte-Mecklenburg School System. Together, they cherish their three children, Kadence, Karson, and Kailand.
