In a world that often feels chaotic, understanding our Foundations offers stability, purpose, and hope in these uncertain times. These foundations – revealed in the opening chapters of Genesis – show us how everything began – creation, humanity, sin, and God’s plan for redemption – as well as provide answers for today’s most pressing issues: purpose, identity, gender, sexuality, race, abortion, war, and so much more. That is why we are digging into the first eleven chapters of Genesis at camp this summer, seeing how God created us, saved us, and called us to live in His creation.
