

9:15am: Traditional Worship Service. “Traditional” at Bacon Heights does not mean “boring or old-fashioned.” What it does mean is that you will encounter a worship experience, musically, full of the old (and a few not-so-old) hymns. Their lyrics rich in theology, are treasures of our history. Should you find time to study the background of the hymns and their authors you will discover a goldmine of inspiration. After all, a hymn - at its core - is simply someone's life-changing story put to music. Our worship choir sings regularly in this service along with an orchestra at times.

10:45am: Contemporary Worship Service. Our “contemporary” service is characterized, musically, by more modern worship music and accompanied by our Bacon Heights Praise Band. Some mistakenly believe that “contemporary worship” equals a “dumbing down” of our worship of Christ. But, nothing could be farther from the truth. We love modern Christ-centered music, which we have found to be, pure and simple, Scriptural truth in Scriptural language. In addition, many contemporary worship songs are excellent vehicles for getting God’s Word into the memories of worshipers, adult and children alike. So, whether we're singing a currently popular contemporary song, a fresh arrangement of an old hymn, or even a re-written/Christian version of an old Motown hit, one thing's for certain - Jesus Christ will be the centerpiece of it all.
