Newsletter of the Student Ministry at Damascus Baptist Church

We have talked a lot over the past couple of years about being Jesus disciples. And not just being disciples, but also becoming disciples who make disciples. Everything we learn should eventually become something we can teach. God's plan for our lives is for us to see that He has called each of us into His service. I think that this is one the ways our Youth group really stands out. We have served in many ways, including mission trips to West Virginia and Baxley, local missions like A Place to Dream and Under the Bridge, and these only name a few. Do you wonder why I am telling you about things you already know we have done? I remind you because, in order to continue doing them, we have to continue learning so that we can share God's love through His Word as well as with our actions. Sunday School and Wonderful Wednesday's are our best opportunities to learn. Not to mention the fact that we get to see each other then too. And to top it off there is a great meal on Wednesday's and great snacks on Sunday mornings like Mrs. Julie Edwards's sausage balls. Now I can't promise sausage balls every week, but I can promise that if you show up and listen, God will teach you something new. I don't know what He will teach you, but there is one way to find out..... come and see.

Think About It.....
