John 11.32-44

N.T. Wright. *John for Everyone, Part 2

When we look at Jesus, not least when we look at Jesus in tears, we are seeing not just a flesh-and-blood human being but the Word made flesh (1.1-14). The Word, through whom the worlds were made, weeps like a baby at the grave of his friend

Frederick Buechner. *Peculiar Treasures

Recent interviews with people who have been resuscitated after being pronounced clinically dead reveal that, after the glimpse they evidently all of them get of a figure of light waiting for them on the other side, they are very reluctant to be brought back again to this one. On the other hand, when Lazarus opened his eyes to see the figure of Jesus standing there in the daylight beside him, he couldn't for the life of him tell which side he was on.

Stanley Hauerwas and William H. Willimon. *The Holy Spirit

We live in a world too often determined by the denial of death. Christians are a people who, under the guidance of the Spirit, know how to be honest about death and how to be present to one another in death.

Join us next week as we continue exploring the Book of Hebrews.

This year's supper will also feature the ever popular basket silent auction. In years past, over 60 items and baskets have been available for bid. This year should be no different.
