Self-Care in Ministry: Avoiding Burnout – Rev. Jonathan Youngmann

There is an increased and urgent need for Christian workers to be equipped with knowledge and tools to better balance ministry, family, bi-vocational pressures, and all that life brings without burning out. Speaking from personal experiences, Jonathan Youngmann will share practical ways to minister effectively, take care of yourself, and stay fueled by God's strength instead of human power.

The Harmony of Music and Message – Mr. Joshua Eiler:

Planning a unified and streamlined worship service can be challenging. Fitting all the pieces that MUST be in a service with the elements we'd LIKE to incorporate can often leave us frustrated and overwhelmed. Applying some simple principles of "curation" allows us to better weave these pieces together, making room for our congregations to experience uninterrupted holy moments with our God. Join us as we share some practical strategies to bring greater harmony between music and message.

The Glory of Christ in the Future Messianic Age – Rev. David Linn:

To glorify his own name, our Lord Jesus Christ will return for his church, blast the earth in judgment of sin, defeat his enemies, rescue his people Israel, renovate the whole earth, and commence a perfect rule of peace which will last for a thousand years. If that is true then we must make his priorities our priorities: to love God and our fellow human beings, to alleviate suffering wherever we can, and to lead as many people as possible to a saving knowledge of the King of Kings who will come to rule and reign in righteousness right here on planet earth. We will trace this blessed truth from Genesis to Revelation.

Moving Forward in Multiplication – Rev. Alan Rathbun:

Our churches take their first steps toward biblical and fruitful disciple making and church planting when we begin to value sending more than seating and start acting like we believe Jesus' words that the harvest truly is plentiful. In our time together, we will explore essential shifts needed for churches to embrace and begin to move forward in a multiplying mission.

Alliance Women: A Three Pronged Approach to Ministry to Women– Mrs. Terri Groh, CWM:

Alliance Women has changed both nationally and, in our district. However, many pastors and ministry leaders are not sure what that change means for the local church. Terri will share a three-pronged approach ministry to women in your church, women in your community, and as women engage with Alliance Missions.
