

Kaufman Church of Christ is the home church for Keith and Robin Honey when they are in the States.

The Honeys entered missionary service in 1978 as apprentices in a church planting ministry in Zambia. After completion of their apprenticeship and further education in the USA, they returned to Africa and were part of a pioneer, church planting ministry in northwestern Botswana until 1995. They are fluent in Setswana and speak other languages of the region, such as Tonga and Lozi, with varying degrees of fluency. Keith holds degrees in agriculture and theology from Texas A&M University and Abilene Christian University. Robin holds degrees in education from Texas A&M University and Texas A&M University-Commerce. The Honeys are experienced educators with Keith, in addition to teaching, having served four years in school administration. The Honeys have been married for 35 years and have three grown children.
