Although naturally optimistic, Georgia believes it's important to be "real". She says: "Everybody knows I've had problems with my skin and if I've got a big spot I'll share it on Instagram.

I've lived in the public eye for a long time and I will continue to be open. I sometimes struggle.

Georgia is aware a lot of her fans are young girls and says: "I wanted the book to be a positive message. It's important I'm a good role model but also that I'm me."

As for the future, Georgia says: "I'm incredibly ambitious and, even though I've achieved, I'm really just getting started."
