Oklahoma enacts new restrictions on abortion clinics near hospitals.

Sign up for our weekly newsletter

Find Al Jazeera America on your TV

May 1, 2013

A woman living in the city of Midland used to have a Planned Parenthood in her town, but new regulations in recent years.

For example, a woman in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.

The Supreme Court turned

A woman living in the city of McAllen — where the single abortion clinic is not an ambulatory surgical center — would have to drive over 200 miles to the nearest clinic in San Antonio.

A district court judge blocked the ambulatory surgical center that doesn’t make sense.