This is all confidential, meant only for you. Forwarded message is below.

Thank you to Reid and Sam for letting me know about Turning Points USA. I spoke with TPUSA, a conservative action committee, about receiving support from them for our campaign ticket. TPUSA is dedicated to "retaking" college campuses away from the radical left, and are interested in supporting our ticket. Sarah Swanbeck, an experienced political operative from Austin, will be helping us with the campaign. Last year, TPUSA candidates won 26 of 30 universities, so the odds are in our favor. Sarah has experience working on campaigns from DC to Florida to Texas. Currently, they are conducting research into the SA Election Procedures, our potential cabinet members, and possible contenders to find the best strategy for a victory. We will not be running an explicit conservative campaign, as the platform will be tailored to Rice. I've received some pointers recently and can fill you guys in should you be interested.

Either way, Sarah will be heading here to Houston next week to meet with the ticket and our supporters. All of you are invited, if you're interested. Right now we need two more members on the ticket for treasurer and secretary, and preferably one of them is a lady (not the secretary? haha). Meeting will probably last a few hours, with some interviews and other content we can blitzkrieg the opposition with on social media at 10pm on the 20th. If you are up for it, would Friday be convenient? Looking forward to seeing what we can do.

I have these as possible contenders, let me know ANYBODY else and I'll get research on them.

- Hannah Todd
- Justin Onwenu
- Santi Avila
- David Cirrillo

Also, begin boosting your Facebook friends so we can have the greatest social media impact. Lot of work to do, but it's entirely possible to win with a strong organization.

If you aren't one of the 5 on the ticket, I can envision appointing you as directors of the SA Committees if we win.

Make Rice Great Again! (NOT our campaign slogan, haha)

Wes
