ANKERPLEX® is a high-performance anchor system composed of three precision-cut, normalised flat steel components. Engineered for simplicity and strength, these parts connect effortlessly and are secured with a single shackle, forming a rigid, self-supporting 3D structure in minutes—no tools required.

Once assembled, ANKERPLEX® delivers exceptional performance:

- Fast seabed penetration
- High holding power
- Reliable resetting during changes in direction or load
- Consistent positioning, even in challenging conditions

With no moving parts, there's nothing to jam, break, or get damaged during use or handling—ensuring maximum reliability at sea.

Thanks to its flat-pack design, ANKERPLEX® is easy to produce, store, and transport. It's an ideal kedge or emergency anchor: compact, quick to deploy, and foolproof to assemble—without compromising strength or effectiveness.

Nixon Marine Global President (Keith Nixon) commented "We are delighted to add ANKERPLEX® to our collection of high-quality suppliers and look forward to helping the growth of the company here in the US. The product quality meets our own high standard and will be a perfect fit for our market"

Fran Cristos, owner of Ankerplex, commented: "For us, entering the United States market is a major challenge that we face with great enthusiasm. We trust in our product, and in the experience, high capacity, and professionalism of Keith Nixon and the Nixon Marine Global team."
