

Albury Brothers Boats

For Immediate Release

November 6, 2025

Riviera Beach, Florida

It is my privilege to announce Albury Brothers in Florida now has a new President, Adam Lichterman. Adam has earned his title and responsibility, so he is well equipped for continued success.

Adam began building our boats full-time almost 10 years ago, but he was born to the business. He skipped school to attend his first Boat Builders Show (IBEX), when he was only 10 years old. Adam was aboard the first 27 sea trial, also at 10. There was no way he was missing it. In the evening, while still in grade school, Adam helped me sea trial and punch out many of our finished 20's and 23's. He Captained his first 23 trip to Abaco at age 18, I had complete confidence in his ability. He also attended Navy Prep High School for a couple years and is a experienced sailor.

When Adam started full time, he excelled in the Assembly Department, while playing a supporting role in sales and marketing. He built his own personal 23 from beginning to completion at age 23. Five years ago Adam started his own boat building business from scratch. He had an agreement to be the sub-contractor of our new Limited Edition 23 model. This required Adam to lease a facility, staff and equip it from scratch, and pioneer the resin infusion process.

Adam proved up to the challenge. The team he created successfully built dozens of 23's, plus a few Eastport 32's. 2 years ago I purchased his business and merged it into Albury Brothers. Adam learned to operate the Albury Brothers business in its entirety since then, and has been doing so all of 2025. In addition to all this new responsibility in 2025, he managed to have his first child (a son), and complete two FAU College of Business courses in Financial & Cost Accounting, and Corporate Financial Management.

"I am proud to state Adam also has the title of "my son", and I look forward to serving under him" said Jeff Lichterman, Albury Brother's newest Vice President.
