MJM Yachts Announces David Walters Yachts Is its New Dealer in The Bahamas and Caribbean

WASHINGTON, N.C. – JANUARY 5, 2026 – Luxury performance boat builder MJM Yachts is happy to announce that David Walters Yachts now represents its brand throughout The Bahamas and Turks & Caicos Islands, as well as in the British and U.S. Virgin Islands, Sint/St. Maarten, St. Barths, St. Kitts & Nevis in the Caribbean.

In 1982, David Walters, co-founder of Shannon Yachts, founded his own sailing yacht brand, Cambria, and opened yacht sales division David Walters Yachts (DWY) with his wife, Betsy. Drawing on Dave's yacht design and boat-building experience and his keen eye for quality, DWY grew to become a leading international sales and brokerage firm specializing in blue-water sail and power cruising yachts.

“For more than 40 years, David Walters Yachts has focused on representing yachts that embody enduring quality, refined design, versatility, and real-world performance. MJM's Crafted for Life philosophy aligns seamlessly with those principles and the customer experience we strive to deliver. From their engineering and construction to the culture of their team and owner community, MJM consistently demonstrates a commitment to excellence. We have long admired the MJM brand and are genuinely excited to welcome their yachts into our portfolio as part of their dealer network,” said David Walters Yachts President Josh Mclean.

MJM Yachts President & CEO Natascia Hatch stated, “David Walters Yachts shares our belief that great design must perform in the real world. In The Bahamas and Caribbean, owners want a yacht that welcomes friends aboard and still cruises confidently between islands – ready for quick hops, longer weekends, and changing conditions. That versatility is exactly what MJM is built for, and we’re excited to partner with the David Walters Yachts team.”

The MJM 47X is an ideal luxury performance boat for island-hopping.
