Marine Industry Veteran Launches National Leadership and Recruiting Firm

January 13, 2026

Indianapolis, IN

INDIANAPOLIS, IN: Marine industry veteran and business leader Jamison Carrier has announced the launch of TeamNavX, a leadership and talent advisory firm headquartered in Indiana and serving dealerships nationwide.

TeamNavX is a dealership focused recruiting firm that helps dealer principals and executive teams identify, attract, and hire top performers. Unlike traditional recruiting models, TeamNavX begins by establishing clarity around the role, expectations, and performance standards before any search is conducted, ensuring the right fit before hiring or promotion decisions are made. The firm also supports leadership development and long-term retention in an increasingly competitive labor market.

Carrier brings decades of experience building and leading teams within the dealership industry, including senior leadership roles in publicly traded environments and as the founder of Relentless Dealer Services, a nationally recognized company that supported dealerships across nearly all 50 states. Relentless Dealer Services was acquired in 2023.

TeamNavX was created to help dealerships grow with intention by applying proven leadership frameworks, performance clarity, and disciplined recruiting practices.

“There’s no shortage of hard-working people in this industry,” Carrier said. “But when expectations aren’t clear, teams get frustrated. TeamNavX helps dealers define what winning looks like before they hire or promote, not after.”

At launch, TeamNavX is already under contract with industry clients across the country, with active engagements spanning from California to North Carolina and from Minnesota to Florida.
