BRIG Is Back: Iconic RIB Brand Returns to the Chesapeake Bay

Edgewater, MD — The wait is over. BRIG is officially back in Maryland. Boaters across the Chesapeake Bay can once again experience the innovation, performance, and adventure that made BRIG one of the world's most popular rigid inflatable boat brands.

Founded in Ukraine more than 30 years ago, BRIG built a global reputation for precision engineering, durability, and design excellence. In 2022, production was paused when BRIG's Ukrainian factory was struck by a missile during the early stages of the war. Demonstrating remarkable resilience, the company rebuilt and reestablished manufacturing at the same facility in Ukraine, proudly resuming production and continuing its global operations.

To bring BRIG back to the Chesapeake region, Commodore Bay Marina, a dealership based in Avalon, New Jersey, has expanded operations with a new BRIG Mid Atlantic sales office at Liberty Marina in Edgewater, Maryland. The expansion reconnects one of BRIG's most passionate customer bases with direct local access to the brand's latest lineup.

Commodore Bay Marina has joined forces with Salt Yacht Brokerage, led by Ed Pickering, which will feature BRIG as its first new boat line, uniting a respected local brokerage with one of the most recognized names in rigid inflatable boats.

"We are excited to continue growing with Commodore Bay Marina as they expand into Edgewater," said Tim McNulty, Vice President of Sales at BRIG USA. "The Chesapeake Bay is an important market for BRIG, and this new presence at Liberty Marina provides an excellent opportunity for customers to experience our boats firsthand."

Sean McNulty of Commodore Bay Marina added, "We're thrilled to bring BRIG back to the Chesapeake Bay. This region has a long history as a strong market for BRIG and RIB enthusiasts. The Bay is full of passionate boaters who truly appreciate BRIG's craftsmanship and performance. It feels great to be back."

The new Edgewater location will feature a selection of BRIG models, allowing customers to experience the brand's quality and craftsmanship firsthand. With its convenient waterfront setting, Liberty Marina is ideally positioned for sea trials, customer consultations, and on water demonstrations.

Updates surrounding BRIG's return to the Chesapeake Bay and upcoming events at Liberty Marina will be shared through BRIG Mid Atlantic social channels.
