

PRIORITIZING YOUR PRIORITIES

The most important thing I need to change about my life in the next year is:

One thing I must do to immediately start working toward that change is:

To feel significant, accomplished, and happy on a consistent basis I must:

In order to improve my body I must:

In order to expand my mind and become more educated I will:

To better my career and financial situation I must:

What would make me feel most fulfilled is:

One thing I can do to give back and contribute beyond myself is:

The one quality I need to improve on the most is:

Once I make this improvement I will feel:

If I fail to change and am in the same place I am a year from now I will be:

