

The Akron Law Review

Call for Papers - Criminal Justice Reform

About The Akron Law Review

The Akron Law Review is the flagship journal of The University of Akron School of Law. Founded in 1967, the Akron Law Review is a student-edited journal that publishes four issues annually, including a symposium issue and an annual Intellectual Property Edition.

Submissions

The Akron Law Review is currently seeking articles to be published in an issue devoted to criminal justice reform. Relevant topics may include, but are certainly not limited to: exploring new and existing ways of holding police accountable; collateral consequences of conviction; and recent efforts in and new ideas regarding bail reform.

Submission Guidelines

- Articles published by the Akron Law Review average 15,000 - 25,000 words.
- The Akron Law Review does not accept submissions from students at other law schools.
- Co-authorship is permissible; All authors please submit an updated curriculum vitae and/or resume.

Contact Information

Please email submissions and questions to lawreview@uakron.edu by November 15, 2020.
Articles submitted before October 15, 2020 will receive priority consideration.