

Notice from the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Eastern District of Tennessee in Response to COVID-19 Virus

Concerning the evolving and expanding public health considerations related to the COVID-19 virus, and upon consideration of the information available at this time, the court has made the following determinations in an effort to balance the needs of the bar and public with their safety and that of the court staff serving them:

- Open hearings as presently scheduled will continue to be held and future hearings may continue to be scheduled;
- Telephonic appearances and participation at court hearings will be broadly available to both counsel and parties to limit personal contact in court spaces;
- The court will be receptive to motions for mutually agreed upon continuances of hearings and counsel are encouraged to do so when practical and appropriate;
- The court strongly urges the filing of motions to continue in situations where the health of individuals is or may be at risk; and
- The notice attached as an exhibit will be posted on public doors.

Those wishing to participate telephonically in a scheduled hearing should contact chambers of the presiding judge for guidance and instruction on how to dial in to a hearing. Contact information is available under “Judges’ Information” on our public webpage www.tneb.uscourts.gov.

It is anticipated that during the course of this public health emergency the court may find itself operating with reduced staff. While our goal remains to effectively serve the bar and public, we appreciate your patience as resources may be stretched. As the situation with the COVID-19 virus evolves, so will our court’s response to it. Any additional changes will be communicated as soon as they are determined.
