Supreme Court Administrative Order)

The court has reviewed House Bill 197 and the order issued on March 27, 2020 by the Supreme Court of Ohio, which tolls all time limits in the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure.

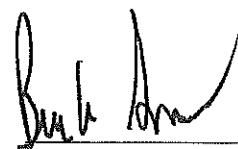

The court finds that pursuant to the Supreme Court Order, the tolling would include time periods under Rule 53 of the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure, specifically the 10 day period to file a motion to set aside a magistrate's order, the 14 day period to object to a magistrate's decision, and the 10 day period for another party to file objections to a magistrate's decision after the first party has filed objections. In addition, the tolling would include time periods under Rule 65.1 of the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure, specifically the 14 day period to object to a magistrate's denial or granting of a protection order after a full hearing or any terms of such an order, and the ten day period for another party to file objections to the magistrate's decision after the first party has filed objection.

The court further finds that the Supreme Court Order issued March 27, 2020, does permit courts to set specific time periods concerning certain issues.

In that magistrate orders and magistrate decisions in domestic relations matters are being issued in cases which require immediate attention, to extend the period of time for filing objections to these orders or decisions, would not be in the interest of justice and could place families in untenable situations relating to legal issues associated with domestic abuse, children, or finances of families in transition.

Therefore, it is hereby ORDERED, ADJUDGED and DECREED that the time provisions set forth in Rules 53 and 65.1 of the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure shall be maintained for all cases in this court.
