THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 14 | LIVE SEMINAR

PRENUPTIALS & POSTNUPTIALS They Are Like a Box of Chocolates; You Never Quite Know What You Are Going to Get

OVERVIEW

Whether viewed as “planning for divorce” or “planning for marriage,” with the increased number of blended families (roughly half of all families are “blended”), prenuptial and postnuptial agreements are a necessary (and needed) part of “planning.”

This seminar will discuss statutory foundation, necessary components of such agreements, case law, how best to address these issues with your clients, and more.

The program is intended to be suitable for estate planners, matrimonial attorneys, financial advisers, and allied professionals. You will learn that those agreements are like a box of chocolates—you never quite know what you are going to get!

LETHAL INJECTION & EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

OVERVIEW

Join us for the first Criminal Law and Criminal Justice Committee meeting of the year! All are welcome—members and non-members. Lunch will be served before a presentation on lethal injection and executive clemency. The meeting is free, with a fee for those seeking CLE credit. Following the CLE, we will discuss nominees for the Jack Norman, Sr. Award (see page four for more information).

The first session is Update on Local and National Challenges To Lethal Injection and Other Methods of Execution. The US Supreme Court is taking up the issue of lethal injection this term in Bucklew v. Precythe, No. 17-8151. Learn about the evolution of challenges to methods of execution in Tennessee, as well as nationwide trends in the area.

The second session is A Review of Clemency in the Federal and Tennessee Systems. Hon. Kevin Sharp and Ben Raybin will discuss the formal process for seeking clemency of federal and state convictions, as well as what happens both behind the scenes and in front of the cameras.

THE ABA'S ROLE IN THE REVIEW AND INVESTIGATION OF JUDGES NOMINATED TO SERVE ON THE FEDERAL BENCH

OVERVIEW

The American Bar Association has conducted independent peer evaluations of the qualifications of nominees to the federal bench for over 60 years. The evaluations are based on an assessment of each nominee's professional background and input from lawyers and judges, and culminate in a rating that is forwarded to the US Senate.

Doug Minor, a current member of the ABA's Standing Committee for the Federal Judiciary, will host a discussion by John Tarpley, a former member who led the Committee's evaluation of (then) Judge Brett Kavanaugh in 2018. John will share insights regarding the committee and his work on the Kavanaugh nomination.

PRESENTERS
