

The weather affects our lives every day. The moisture in the air, the quality of the sunlight, the amount of snow and ice on the ground – it all influences the way we go about our day. Sometimes, it impacts us in ways that need to be verified. Since 1976, CompuWeather has been the nationwide leader in forensic weather consulting and analysis, reconstructing meteorological events for attorneys, insurance professionals and engineers. Over the course of 50,000+ cases and claims, our certified experts have left no doubt about the weather conditions in question. We don't make our best guess. We confirm.

CompuWeather Experts are AMS Certified Consulting Meteorologists who customize their services to each unique weather situation. We have extensive experience providing expert witness testimony for a wide variety of cases and claims.
